SEVENTY-FIVE MEN REPORT FOR FOOTBALL

Bright Prospects for Best Year in Auburn's History—Several Old Foot Ball Men Return and Some New Ones Being Developed.

Saturday, September 7th, found Auburn once more in football harness and on the gridiron ready for the snap of the swine-skin. Seventy-five husky warriors reported in moleskins, and under the able direction of Coach Donahue, assisted by Coaches Pray, of Boston Tech., and Gaum, of A. P. I., the season was begun in earnest and every man settled down to business. The first few days were spent in the usual preliminary work, of catching punts and forward passes, falling on the ball, quick starting, and dummy tackling. Among the old men seen on the field were: Captain "Rip" Major, Auburn's toe artist and star half-back; Newell, quarter-back; Thigpen, guard; Arnold, end; Robertson, end; Kearley, end; Pitts, center; Louisell, tackle; Makin, end; Cogswell, quarter; and Wingo, quarter. Many men of last year's scrub and class-team fame, and some new men are showing up to a very good advantage and promise all varsity material a fight for their positions. Among these are Esslinger, Webb, Hallmark, Faucett, Christopher, Du Prey, Major, Pickett, Harris, Bidez-Elliott, Cuiepper, Wynn, Lockwood, Sparkman, Taylor, Stead, Noble, Morrow, Cook, and many others who are showing marked ability.

Auburn's Prospects.

The prospects for a good team this year are growing brighter at every practice. From the old men returned and the new material on hand, old "Auburn" should develop a team that will uphold and even surpass her records of previous years. The fever of the good old game is steadily creeping into our bones and by the time of the first game, the team and spirit will be ripe for the sound of the whistle and the boot of the ball. We have one of the hardest schedules in our football history this year, and every man should realize the fact, that if the Auburn standard is to be upheld, he, individually, has a part to play, be he player or rooter. So every man that finds it impossible to don a uniform, commence now with lung exercises, and be ready to help in one of the most important factors in the winning of a game. The strongest teams of the S. I. A. A. are to be met this year, all of which have had and will have fast and powerful teams. Vanderbilt will be met for the first time in four years; the Mississippi "Aggies" are coming with their usual team, composed of the best football material in the "Cotton State"; the annual battle in Atlanta with Heisman's "Yellow Jackets" from Ga. Tech.; the usual "Turkey Day" game with University of Ga.; Mercer, Clemson, and University of Florida are coming fast this year, and some stiff football will be seen when each in turn tackle the "Plains Tiger" of Auburn for honors. Following is the schedule:

Oct. 5—Mercer University, at Columbus, Ga.

Oct. 12—University of Florida, on Campus.
Oct. 19—Clemson, on Campus.
Oct. 26—A. & M. Miss., at Birmingham.
Nov. 2—Ga. Tech., at Atlanta.
Nov. 23—Vanderbilt, at Birmingham.
Thanksgiving Day—University of Ga., at Athens, Ga.

Mass Meeting Held.

One of the most enthusiastic mass meetings in Auburn's history was held in Langdon Hall Saturday night, September 21, where a great demonstration of college spirit and loyalty to the team was shown. Prof. "Susie" Thomas was elected to lead the music during the season, and E. S. King was chosen "cheer leader" by the student body. All four of the classes also elected their "cheer leaders" to assist in developing a well organized system of rooting. Manager "Crook" Vaughn acted as chairman of the meeting and gave a very able talk on "The Purpose of Mass Meetings and their Good." Coach Donahue spoke on the subject of, "College Spirit." Faculty Manager Thos. Bragg gave a splendid talk on "Loyalty." Other short speeches were made by Assistant Coaches Pray and Gaum, Captain Major, "Boozie" Pitts, and C. W. Watson, president of the senior class. A plea was made for every man in college to make it a point to be on hand at all practices and aid in cheering and encouraging the team; for the players to know that the student body is behind them, even in the everyday scrimmage, has a most vital effect, so let's all acquire the habit of attending all practices possible, keeping behind the side lines and making plenty of noise.

Special Trains to Atlanta and Birmingham.

The football management is using all possible means of securing permission from the faculty to run special trains to Atlanta for the Tech. game, and also to Birmingham for the battle with the Commodores. Those who have made the trip to Atlanta the past years will never forget the great Auburn parade, the "snake dance," "Tech's Goat," and "Auburn's Ball." Both trips are needed this year and it is absolutely necessary that we have the support of every loyal student in Auburn. So get together, talk it up, and on the mornings of November 2nd, and November 23rd, we shall, with seven hundred loyal rooters, leave for Atlanta and Birmingham, determined to win, and to show the people of these two cities that all Auburn has the true college spirit. So let our slogan be: "On to Birmingham and Atlanta to meet Vandy and Tech!"

Scrubs Lock Horns with the Varsity.

The first big scrimmage of the year was held on Drake Field, Saturday, September 21. With three hundred students on the side lines to watch the work, the varsity and scrubs went into the game as in mid-season form, and some very spectacular football was pulled off in the course of the game. The scrubs showed up to a very good advantage and were able to get around varsity several times for good gains, still the varsity men handled themselves well, and much pig-skin knowledge was demonstrated. The old "A" men were in good form and many new men pulled off some good work,

TELEPHONE LINEMAN HAS CLOSE CALL

Receives 2,200 Volts When Electric Current is Turned on Wires on Which He is Working. Junior Classman Comes to the Rescue.

Last Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock, Mr. Rowe, the lineman for the Bell Telephone Co. in this district, was stringing a wire over the electric power line of the A. P. I., when the current was suddenly turned on at the plant and Mr. Rowe received a severe shock. 2200 volts passed through his system, and as he had wrapped the wire he was considerably burnt about the hands and back. Haroldson, a member of the junior class, saw him lying on the ground unconscious and sizing up the situation with remarkable quickness and coolness, immediately set about rescuing the stricken man. Realizing the danger of a live wire in whipping through the air, he placed a broom handle over the wire and standing on the broom, chopped the wire in two with an axe.

In doing this, Haroldson displayed not only presence of mind, but a large amount of courage as well.

Rowe recovered consciousness and was taken to Montgomery on the afternoon train. Latest reports from the hospital in that city state that due to his strong constitution and temperate habits, he is rapidly recovering from the results of the accident.

notwithstanding the fact that the season is still early.

"Sheep" Lamb Arrives.

The only and original "Sheep" Lamb, all-Southern tackle for two years, is back in college. "Sheep" is one of the most dangerous tackles that has ever appeared on a Southern gridiron. He is quick in sizing up the play, strong on the offensive, and a hard worker that never fails to stop a line play. This is "Sheep's" last year in S. I. A. A. athletics, having served Auburn faithfully for four years, and he is determined that his last shall be his best. C. W. M. Renshaw, better known as "Father," has also returned to college. "Renshaw" played in the back field the latter part of last year, and although the position was an entirely new one to him, he could always be found doing yeoman service. He will again take a place in the ranks of the line plungers, and will, in all probability, be Auburn's most effective ground gainer.

"More Scrubs Wanted."

Although there is an average of fifty men or more, on the field every evening, don't think that the coaches are satisfied with that number—they are not—there is always room for more, and with a student body numbering eight hundred, we should certainly turn out a squad of one hundred men, at least. The larger the squad, the better will be the scrub team; and the better the scrub, the better the varsity. With very few exceptions, every varsity man, of any team, has worked from the ranks of the lowest scrub. Because a man is light, or because his knowledge of the game is limited, is no reason why he should not be out for the team; the man that makes good is the one that is gritty, determined, not a quitter, and above all, he is the one that has the true Auburn spirit. It is true that the life of a scrub is not an ideal one; he is knocked and bumped by the varsity, yelled at and hooted by the coach; gets little credit and no honor for his work, but he has the consolation of knowing that he has helped hammer varsity into shape and that probably in the course of a year or two, he shall be charging with the varsity, instead of the scrubs, and then it is that he feels repaid for the time he has spent on the scrubs. Don't be a quitter; get out and scrub and stick to it:

"You're beaten to earth. Well, well, what's that?"

Come up with a smiling face, It's nothing against you to fall down flat, But to lie there, that's the disgrace. Why, the harder you are thrown, the higher you'll bounce.

Be proud of the blackened eye, For it isn't the fact that you are whipped that counts, But how did you fight, and why?"

We are all here to better not only ourselves, but the college, and there is nothing that can do a college more good than a successful football team, so let's all get together and remember that it is "Auburn Forever."

"Track Work Commenced."

For the past week Captain Beutell, of the track team, has had his men out going through preliminary work, preparing for the track events to be held in Montgomery at the Fair. All men wishing to enter these events are requested to see the captain, and get out for work.

"Game Saturday Evening."

At three-thirty o'clock, Saturday, September 28th, Auburn's faithful alumni will appear on the Campus with a fast team to meet the varsity. Knowing the necessity of giving the varsity plenty of good hard work, they have for the past several years brought up a splendid team to meet their Alma Mater. The game is well worth the money, so it is up to the student body to get out and make it an all around success.

TRIP AROUND WORLD

Everyone will be glad to learn that their friends who ventured abroad on last Friday night have returned all safe and sound. Many who could not go were down to the New York station to see them off and bid them hasty adieux as Pap impressively announced the fastly departing trains.

Japan was the first stop. The tourists were carried by the natives in jinrikishas from the train into the heart of Japland, Japanese lanterns being given them to light the way. As was the custom of this country, they sat on the floor and allowed themselves to be served with hot tea and cookies. A few of the more precocious tourists desired to eat rice with chop sticks. The Japs humoured them in this, and even awarded small imperial flags as prizes for those evincing great skill. Colonel wielded the chop sticks so admirably that one of the native girls rewarded him with her charming parasol.

From Japan, a record-breaking trip was made across the continent to Holland. Pretty Dutch maidens with quaint bonnets and wooden shoes served the travelers with de-

FRATERNITIES HOSTS AT DANCES

Two Very Pretty and Attractive Dances Given at the Phi Hall and Kappa Alpha House on Friday and Saturday Nights.

The social season at Auburn began last Friday night with a dance at the Phi Hall at which the Phi Delta Theta and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternities were hosts. This was followed on Saturday night by a dance at the Kappa Alpha house at which the Kappa Alpha and the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternities were hosts.

The halls were appropriately and artistically decorated in the Fraternity colors. The College Orchestra discoursed the best of dance music throughout both evenings.

Both dances were well attended and a large and enthusiastic crowd of young people "tripped the light fantastic" until the wee small hours of the morning. "Crow" Wright, always a prominent figure in Auburn's social realm, furnished the punch for both occasions, and his many enthusiastic admirers testify that the brew was worthy of Crow's well earned reputation.

Prominent among the out-of-town visitors here for the occasion were Misses Eva Mae McLendon, Juliet McLendon, Irvine Browder, Elizabeth Brown, Gene Griffin, Lucile Jackson, and Annie Laurie Miller from Montgomery; Misses Leonora Golden, Kathleen Golden, and Katherine Jones, from Columbus, Ga.; Miss Ethel Hudson, of Atlanta Ga.; Miss Mayo Thach, of Birmingham; Miss Willie Rob Buchanan, of Sylacauga, Ala., and Miss Nell Williams, of West Point, Ga.

Mrs. Thach and Mrs. Williams were the patronesses on both occasions.

licious sandwiches from baskets swinging from their shoulders. The canals and wind-mills were very picturesque, not more interesting, however, than the interior decoration of the old Dutch Kitchens.

Much too soon they were hurried off to Ireland. No one was seasick crossing the channel, though the boat was rather rocky at times. They fully realized that, to know a people one, must test the food, so their attention was directed for some time to delightful Irish potato salad and fresh buttermilk. Everyone kissed the Blarney Stone. Instruction and enlightenment was gained thereby.

On the return voyage, the white shores of Iceland attracted the attention of the tourists. It was decided to stop over there and get thoroughly cool before going back to their sunny home. It was indeed an unusual experience to see so much snow in September. The shivering tourists soon forgot they were cold, however, the attractions were so numerous. Maidens with snow white locks served them with ices and lovely frosted cakes. A ferocious white bear frightened the younger students, but no one was hurt.

The returned tourists appreciate this grand opportunity given them by the Presbyterian ladies—this opportunity of beginning their college year with such an edifying trip around the world.

AUBURN, ALA., SEPTEMBER 28, 1912

A short time ago the Senior Class held a meeting and elected an Editorial Board for the school magazine, "The Orange and Blue." The results of the election may be seen at the top of this column.

The editors, after thinking the matter over carefully and reviewing the career of the Orange and Blue for the past six years, have decided to abolish the old idea of a monthly magazine, and edit a weekly college newspaper in its place. There is scarcely a college or university in the country of anywhere near Auburn's size and importance that does not get out a weekly newspaper. We feel very much ashamed of ourselves that we have not made this move years ago.

But now that we have "crossed the Rubicon" as it were, there is no going back and we must succeed. It is up to us individually, specifically, and collectively to get out a paper each week that will be a credit to Auburn. Now, this isn't a one man job. In order to make the Orange and Blue Weekly a success, the editor must have the earnest co-operation and ardent support of every man on the Board; more than that the board is not sufficient in itself. We need the support and co-operation of every man in the college, from the most insignificant "rat," be he humble or fresh, to the president of the Senior Class and the captain of the football team.

That is what it takes to make a school paper and that is what we have got to have. We are banking on the student body. We know what the Auburn Spirit is. We have seen it pull a hard pressed team out of a hole and make of the shattered mass an irresistible unit charging down the field to a glorious victory. We reckoned on this spirit when we decided to make the Orange and Blue a weekly.

Now, we want every man in college to subscribe. Of course we want your good wishes, but we must have more than that. Good will has no cash value. The good will of the whole earth won't pay the printer for a single copy of the Orange and Blue. Now we have a bunch of fellows out who are anxious to get your subscription. When they come to you, if you haven't subscribed, tell them so and tell them why like a man and then let them talk to you. But don't lie out and say that you have subscribed when you haven't. We don't blame a man for not wanting to confess to the fact that he attends an institution and hasn't enough college spirit to invest one dollar in the only periodical published by the students of that institution. But if you are in that boat, be a man and say so. We will respect you more for it.

We walked up town Monday and found Sheep Lamb and Doc Renssijac on Toomer's Corner. The sight did us more good than a Chocolate Fizz. Now we know that we are out after Vandy's Goat and the Championship with it. "Sheep" can make a hole through any line in the world, and "Doc" can wiggle through any hole that Sheep makes. Them's our sentiments on football.

About the price of the Orange and Blue for this year, we are making it at the same old price of $1.00 for the year. Every college weekly that we know of charges from $1.50 to $2.00 for a year's subscription. But with the support of the advertisers and the students, we are going to break even on a dollar. But to break even we must have your subscription. This means you!

LITTLE LADY.

I loved my little lady,
With a love that cannot die;
I loved her dark brown ringlets,
Her gentle, bright blue eye.
I loved the cheeks so rosy,
I loved her lips so red,
Her mouth that always smiled at me,
Her stately, shapely head.
I loved the dainty fingers,
That softly touched the keys,
That whispered sweeter music
Than fairies sing in trees.
I loved her little foot,
That skipped about so gay,
While all the time she sang to me
To keep all cares away.
I loved my little lady,
And I surely loved her well;
I loved her far more dearly
Than pen or tongue can tell.
But now the little lady
Is so very far away,
I ne'er again shall see her
Until the Judgement Day.

The birds are always singing,
In Auburn.
"Joy bells" are ever ringing,
In Auburn.
The sun shines brightest,
The fellows treat you whitest,
And the hardest work is lightest,
In Auburn.
The ladies' eyes are bluest,
In Auburn.
Their little hearts are truest,
In Auburn.
"The boys" are ever grinning,
For our teams are always winning.
The world first had its beginning,
In Auburn.

It has been the ideal of the Association for a number of years to have a suitable building which would be a social center for the entire student body, a place where men could spend their spare time in wholesome recreation and amusement and profitable reading and a place where each college organization could have its headquarters.

This ideal has been partially realized in securing the rooms over the stores of Mr. Burton and Mr. Beasley which have been fitted up to serve as the Association quarters until the building can be secured.

The idea of the building has by no means been abandoned and strenuous efforts will be put forth this year to finish paying for the lot which has been purchased. This lot is on the corner of Gay St. and Faculty Ave., just in front of the Pi Kappa Alpha House. The size is 125 x 300 ft. This lot is a very valuable one and a desirable site for a modern building. Fourteen hundred dollars yet remains to be paid on the lot of which three hundred is already in sight. Dr. W. D. Weatherford, the supervising secretary of the South, informs us that when the remaining eleven hundred is raised, our chance for securing a large appropriation for a building will be equally as good as that of Georgia Tech., or the A. & M. of North Carolina. Each of these institutions recently secured appropriations and now have their buildings erected. While perhaps so much is not being said about it as at one time, the prospects for a building at Auburn are brighter than ever before. How soon it comes will depend almost entirely on the interest and enthusiasm the student body has in the project.

Equipment for this Year.

This year a larger undertaking has been assumed than has heretofore been attempted by the Association and the sole object of it is to serve the interests of Auburn men. No small sum is being expended in installing shower baths which are now ready for use, and in furnishing the rooms, to say nothing of the increase of running expense. Subscriptions have been entered for a dozen of the best magazines and four of the leading daily papers. Thru the kindness of the Orange and Blue Board the college exchanges will be placed on the reading table. A number of games including two good carrom boards and a crokinole board have been provided and other games will be added later. The room over Mr. Burton's store will be kept quiet for the benefit of the men who wish to study. Men who board at a distance from the college will find this a convenient place for this purpose.

Support of Whole Student Body Needed.

In order to make the work of the Association a genuine benefit to the student body and a wholesome and uplifting influence in the life of the college, we appeal to every Auburn man to support it. To those who already enjoy many of the privileges offered, we appeal to help make them possible for those who do not enjoy them. Any Auburn man can derive some benefit from the Association, if he cares to that he cannot get elsewhere. To those who have not yet joined we want to say that the doors are open. The membership has already passed the three hundred mark and is daily increasing, but with seven hundred men in college it ought to be twice this number, and to this end the committee is working.

AUBURN, ALA., SEPTEMBER 28, 1912

A short time ago the Senior Class held a meeting and elected an Editorial Board for the school magazine, "The Orange and Blue." The results of the election may be seen at the top of this column.

The editors, after thinking the matter over carefully and reviewing the career of the Orange and Blue for the past six years, have decided to abolish the old idea of a monthly magazine, and edit a weekly college newspaper in its place. There is scarcely a college or university in the country of anywhere near Auburn's size and importance that does not get out a weekly newspaper. We feel very much ashamed of ourselves that we have not made this move years ago.

But now that we have "crossed the Rubicon" as it were, there is no going back and we must succeed. It is up to us individually, specifically, and collectively to get out a paper each week that will be a credit to Auburn. Now, this isn't a one man job. In order to make the Orange and Blue Weekly a success, the editor must have the earnest co-operation and ardent support of every man on the Board; more than that the board is not sufficient in itself. We need the support and co-operation of every man in the college, from the most insignificant "rat," be he humble or fresh, to the president of the Senior Class and the captain of the football team.

That is what it takes to make a school paper and that is what we have got to have. We are banking on the student body. We know what the Auburn Spirit is. We have seen it pull a hard pressed team out of a hole and make of the shattered mass an irresistible unit charging down the field to a glorious victory. We reckoned on this spirit when we decided to make the Orange and Blue a weekly.

Now, we want every man in college to subscribe. Of course we want your good wishes, but we must have more than that. Good will has no cash value. The good will of the whole earth won't pay the printer for a single copy of the Orange and Blue. Now we have a bunch of fellows out who are anxious to get your subscription. When they come to you, if you haven't subscribed, tell them so and tell them why like a man and then let them talk to you. But don't lie out and say that you have subscribed when you haven't. We don't blame a man for not wanting to confess to the fact that he attends an institution and hasn't enough college spirit to invest one dollar in the only periodical published by the students of that institution. But if you are in that boat, be a man and say so. We will respect you more for it.

We walked up town Monday and found Sheep Lamb and Doc Renssijac on Toomer's Corner. The sight did us more good than a Chocolate Fizz. Now we know that we are out after Vandy's Goat and the Championship with it. "Sheep" can make a hole through any line in the world, and "Doc" can wiggle through any hole that Sheep makes. Them's our sentiments on football.

About the price of the Orange and Blue for this year, we are making it at the same old price of $1.00 for the year. Every college weekly that we know of charges from $1.50 to $2.00 for a year's subscription. But with the support of the advertisers and the students, we are going to break even on a dollar. But to break even we must have your subscription. This means you!

LITTLE LADY.

I loved my little lady,
With a love that cannot die;
I loved her dark brown ringlets,
Her gentle, bright blue eye.
I loved the cheeks so rosy,
I loved her lips so red,
Her mouth that always smiled at me,
Her stately, shapely head.
I loved the dainty fingers,
That softly touched the keys,
That whispered sweeter music
Than fairies sing in trees.
I loved her little foot,
That skipped about so gay,
While all the time she sang to me
To keep all cares away.
I loved my little lady,
And I surely loved her well;
I loved her far more dearly
Than pen or tongue can tell.
But now the little lady
Is so very far away,
I ne'er again shall see her
Until the Judgement Day.

—X.X.X.

In Auburn.
The "O. D.s" how to ride,
In Auburn.
"Blind Tiger Booze" is clearest,
And in most ways the dearest,
But it always acts the queerest,
In Auburn.
The birds are always singing,
In Auburn.
"Joy bells" are ever ringing,
In Auburn.
The sun shines brightest,
The fellows treat you whitest,
And the hardest work is lightest,
In Auburn.
The ladies' eyes are bluest,

College Organizations Invited to Use Rooms.

We wish to take this opportunity to invite the Athletic Association, the Orange and Blue Board, the Glomerata Board, and all other college organizations to make use of the rooms for their meetings whenever they desire, night or day. The room over Mr. Burton's store is especially adapted for this purpose and we hope that no organization will hesitate to use it. In cold weather the room will be heated when notice is given in time.

A Note of Thanks.

We wish to thank the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and all the Auburn people who have in any way aided in fitting up the rooms. Especially do we wish to thank the Co-Ed Bible Class for the nice mirror which they have given, and all the Auburn young ladies who have made sofa pillows and have solicited donations for others. All the gifts that have been made and the services rendered are heartily appreciated.

SPECIAL MEETING SUNDAY

Dr. W. P. Hurt, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, of Opelika, will deliver an address in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on next Sunday, September 29th, at three o'clock, on the subject "College Men and the Bible." Dr. Hurt is an interesting and pleasing speaker. Special music is being arranged for the occasion. Every Auburn man is cordially invited to be present. This meeting will be one of the most interesting of the year.

ENGINEERING NOTES

Mr. T. P. Wright, '10, has resigned his position as post-graduate in the Civil Engineering Department to take up engineering work in Mobile County. Mr. Wright will be associated in this work with "Big Chief" Bonner and others. It is the regret of Auburn students that "T. P." will not be with us this year, but it is felt that he will make good in the larger field of work which he has entered, and is to be congratulated.

The position made vacant by Mr. Wright's resignation has been offered to, and accepted by Mr. R. W. Ridgely, '12, of St. Petersburg, Fla. He will also be engaged in engineering work on city contracts this fall. We are glad to know that this popular fellow has decided to make Auburn his habitat this year.

Mr. Nick Baker, '08, who has been at home for some time as a victim of typhoid fever, is now fully recovered. He will leave this week for Lenoir City, Tenn., where he will take up the position of chief electrician for the Lenoir City Car Mfg. Co., an extensive engineering concern of that city employing over 2,000 men. Mr. Baker is another of the many young Auburn "grads" who are making good in the engineering world.

Auburn is now one of the few schools in the United States to have a wireless station. The plant has been donated by a very distinguished Auburn alumnus, Mr. Reese Hutchinson, chief engineer of the Thomas A. Edison Co., Orange, N. J. Mr. Hutchinson is an inventor of great note, among his creations being the new Edison Storage Battery. This wireless plant will be erected in the near future at a large expenditure. The steel aerial tower will reach a height of 150 feet and will be the most expensive and best equipped plant in the South. Mr. Hutchinson will be in Auburn this winter to visit his alma mater, and to personally superintend the erection of this plant.

Mrs. Birdie I. Robinson, the charming and efficient superintendent of the tomato clubs throughout the state, and who makes her headquarters here at Auburn, is absent this week on a business trip to Birmingham.

Prof. A. St. C. Dunstan and family are back from Asheville, N. C., where they spent a most pleasant summer. We are all glad to see Prof. Dunstan again enjoying the blessings of perfect health. "Look out, Senior 'Lecs!"

"Kid" Collier, of the class of '09, who assisted in English here last season, was with us at the opening of school, but we regret to say that he will not be with us this year as he has accepted a position on the editorial staff of the Montgomery Advertiser. We foretell for him a rapid rise in the newspaper world.

Sweat: (in power house) "We have just electrocuted a mule over in the Veterinary hospital."

Wood: Gee! I'm glad I don't eat at the dormitory this year.

Prof. Ross, head of the Chemistry Department, has returned from New York City, where he attended the International Convention of Chemists. The Chemistry men are all delighted to have their beloved "Bennie" with them again.

Miss Susan Lipscombs's many friends will be delighted to learn that she is rapidly recovering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Prof. James P. C. Southall and family have returned from their vacation spent at Bellevue, Va. While there, Prof. Southall and his son, Abbott, both suffered from attacks of pneumonia, but we are glad to note that they are entirely well again.

Miss Bessie Wright, one of our charming co-eds of last year, left Wednesday for Roanoke, Va., where she will enter Virginia College. We predict for her a most pleasant and successful year at that institution.

Mr. C. M. Wahoo, the crack Carlisle halfback of former years, was in the city last Thursday in the interest of A. G. Spaulding & Bros. He has charge of the college department of that peerless athletic firm. He watched the football squad during their preliminary practice and spoke very favorably both of the large amount of good material out and of the vim with which the men went at their work.

R. J. Malone, Jr., of the class of '11, and our football manager in '12, is now engaged in the real estate business in Birmingham. His many friends here wish "Bob" every success in "boosting" the "Magic City."

Alex W. Hicks, of Dadeville, Ala., was in our little city last Friday and Saturday, visiting old friends and making new ones. Hicks was here in '08, '09, and '10, and when he left was First Sergeant of Company D which proves his record here. Mr. Hicks is now home on a furlough from Annapolis. He is making an enviable record there, standing eleventh in a class of two hundred and fifty. He was also catcher on the varsity nine. He returns to the Naval Academy Oct. 1st, to resume his studies, and the good wishes of Auburn go with him. In after years when we are engaged in "Cosmopolitan Lab.," and come across an article extolling the remarkable sagacity, daring bravery, and withal charming personality of one Rear Admiral Hicks, Commander of the Atlantic Squadron, we'll say, "That Son of a Gun!"

Mr. Black, class of '09, was in Auburn on September 19th. Mr. Black, formerly of Opelika, Ala., is now making his home in New Orleans. He is anticipating coming back to Auburn and taking a course in advanced electricity.

Mr. Dick Stratford, of class '10, spent several days in town. He is now teaching horticulture in a district school in Texas.

Mr. J. Gillam, of Tech., spent several days last week in town.

Mr. W. Anderson, of class '12, spent a few days in town while on his way to the University of Wisconsin, where he will take up post-graduate work.

Mr. Eva Thomas, of class '12, spent Sept. 14th in town. He is now employed by the Sou. Bell Telephone Co., of Atlanta.

Mr. L. H. Hale, of Anderston, Ala., spent one afternoon here with his brother, F. C. Hale.

Mr. S. R. Cruse, of class '12, spent a few days in Auburn last week. He is now a professor of mathematics at the McCallie School in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Mayo Thach, the attractive niece of Dr. C. C. Thach, has returned to her home in Birmingham, where after a few days she leaves for Sweet Briar College.

Miss Ethel Hudson, who has been visiting relatives in town, has returned to her home in Atlanta.

Mr. Ed. Sauls, of class '12, spent a few days in Auburn. He is now employed by the L. & N. R. R., at Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. D. C. Rumph, of class '12, spent the opening weeks in Auburn, and has now returned to Marshville, Ga., to take charge of his farm.

Mr. R. M. Lilly, of class '12, spent one day in Auburn. He is now employed by the Inter State Power Co., at Alexander City, Ala.

Mr. J. C. Watson, of class '12, visited Auburn for a few days.

Jamie Worrl spent a part of last week in Columbus. He went over to be present at the marriage of his cousin, Ben Key, to Miss Claudie West. While there, Jamie succeeded in losing a small fragmentary portion of his heart to one of the bridal party and Jamie says that it wasn't his fault that they didn't have a double wedding.

Miss Sallie Pearson Driver passed through Auburn Tuesday, the 10th, on her way to college at Danville, Va.

Misses Julia Pratt Smith, Lila Smith and Ellen Smith, of Prattville, passed through Auburn last Wednesday on their way to the opening of Agnes Scott College.

The large circle of friends of Miss Anna Willmore will be glad to learn that she is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

G. A. Brewer, of the class of '12, and our old reliable varsity catcher for three years, is studying law at the University of Alabama. We predict for him a brilliant future in the legal profession.

H. W. Grady, one of the star men of our General Course of the class of '12, stopped over in Auburn Thursday and Friday enroute to Mobile, where he will enter the Medical Department of the University of Alabama. We predict that he will reach the top of the ladder in this, one of the noblest professions.
